

| BEFORE | | | AFTER | | |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------|------------|
| Book Index / Table (Unorganized & Duplicates) | | | Book Index / Table (Unorganized & Duplicates) | | |
| Chapter | Page | Topic | Chapter | Page | Topic |
| intro | 1 | background | Introduction | 1 | Background |
| chaptr 1 | 5 | fride rice | Chapter 1 | 5 | Fried Rice |
| Chaptr 2 | 9 | spageti | Chapter 2 | 9 | Spaghetti |
| chaper 3 | 15 | conclusion | Chapter 3 | 15 | Conclusion |
| | | | | | |
| Messy Data (Before) | | | Clean Data (After) | | |
| in the old days warriors fight with ther enemys using swords and spears, the battles was loud and confusin people run here and there and sometims they fight again and again again becoz no one wants to lose. ther was no peace only angger and no one to stop the war. | | | In the old days, warriors fought against their enemies using swords and spears. The battles were loud and confusing, with people running everywhere. Sometimes, they fought again and again because no one wanted to lose. There was no peace—only anger—and no one strong enough to stop the war. | | |